Submissions for all will be judged by a panel of industry professionals and from SISW, who will consider the following:

Simcenter Most Innovative:

All entries will be judged based on their innovation area. A total of 100 points is possible –

Abstract - 25 points

The project abstract should give the judges an executive summary of your project.

Project – 35 points

The main body should show use of Simcenter technologies. Published papers, conference papers, Powerpoint presentations, website content, animations, videos, screenshots etc. may all be used as proof points.

Relevance– 40 points

The entry should answer this question: how has Simcenter technology aided you design your product?

Young Minds for Innovative Design

A total of 100 possible points will be granted:

Abstract - 35 points

Abstract must cover the following:

- Explain the purpose of the project, initial objective and group composition (people and university)
- Explain the value of using simulation and/or testing in such case
- Present the modelling process and project steps
- Explain what could be the return on investment

(social/environment impact) if that new idea would be supposed to come to the market

Project – 35 points	The judges will consider complexity of the project as well as the multidomain nature of the project if applicable.
Identified value impact– 40 points	Any substantial impact that would enhance innovation capacity, create new market opportunities, strengthen competitiveness and growth of companies, address issues related to climate change or the environment, or bring other important benefits for society.

Excellence in Artistic Visualization

The submission must look visually attractive. A total of 100 possible points will be granted:

Abstract - 20 points	The project abstract should give the judges an executive summary of your project. Videos and or images including software screen capture should be submitted in support of the application.
Model – 80 points	The judges will consider the complexity as well as the visual attractiveness of the project.

Prizes in each category will be as follows:

The “Award” or collectively the “Awards”.

Winners are selected from all eligible entries received during the Program.

The determination of the winners will be conducted by the panel of judges whose decision is final on all matters relating to this Program. Winners will be announced via social media and will receive their award at a ceremony (may be virtual) to be held at the Realize Live event in Berlin, Germany (May 31st – June 2nd, 2022).. Winners are responsible for all applicable federal, state, and local taxes. SISW will cover shipping costs for the awards, including international shipments. All Awards will be awarded and are non-transferable. No cash or other substitutions are allowed. Odds of receiving an Award are dependent upon the total number of entries received. Winners may be required to sign an IRS form W-9 or other tax document required under local law. If applicable, winners are responsible for all costs associated with data plan(s), Wi-Fi access and/or other use-related fees incurred in connection with use of an electronic device.

Entrants may submit entries for multiple projects but may not enter the same project with multiple identities unless each instance relates to a different portion of the project. Any entrant who attempts to participate with multiple identities for the same project may be disqualified. Altered, mutilated or illegible entries will be disqualified. SISW is not responsible for lost, late, delayed, mutilated, illegible or misdirected entries or for electronic errors.

By submitting an entry for this Program, entrant agrees to abide by these official rules and any decision SISW makes regarding this Event.
